Efficient and Safe Dismantling and Removal

We specialise in the dismantling and removal of all types of industrial plant across a multitude of industries. This includes:

Pressure Vessels – The Company has been involved with some extremely large boiler removal projects, these often can be very difficult, due to the location of the boiler or nearby buildings, houses etc.

Pipework – Our engineers can carefully dismantle pipework sections, often at height, where experience is key in carrying out the work safely and efficiently.

Chimneys - Often the most difficult piece of plant to remove. We work closely with crane companies to ensure chimney dismantling is carried out without incident.

Oil Tanks – Either in one lift or by cutting into sections. The safe removal of what can be a hazardous and dangerous is well within our company's capabilities.

McEwen Boilermakers have been involved in plant removal and dismantling for many years, working for large blue chip organisations and government departments all over the UK and Ireland.

"I am pleased to report that McEwen Boilermaker's carried out the entire contract safely and left the whole site clean and tidy, keeping within timescale and budget. McEwen's approach to their work is extremely professional and I would recommend them unreservedly."
